Michael believes that mobility, connectivity, and infrastructure are critical elements of Downtown LA's economic growth. He serves to promote collaboration across the public, private, and non-profit sectors to support improved quality of life for Downtown's businesses, workers, residents, and visitors.

Vahn Babigian

Metropolitan News | Co-Chair Historic Broadway

Vahn Babigian was born in City of Los Angeles and raised in San Marino. He has had a lifetime connection with downtown. His father was an executive with a newspaper in the downtown for over 40 years. After college when seeking out his future career discovered that he was most suited for what he had been doing his entire life, working at a newspaper. He started off his post college career at the San Diego Union Tribune. Two years later he returned to Los Angeles to work for his father. In 1988 he made the move to where he would be until today, the Metropolitan News Company. Originally serving as Asst. General Manager, he was promoted in 2002 to his current position of General Manager. In addition to overseeing all operations of the company's seven newspaper publishing operations, he represents the stakeholders of the property at the corner of 2nd and Spring St.

While wanting to preserve the history of downtown, he is excited to be a part of the future of its development. Mr. Babigian also serves on the Board of Directors of the American Court and Commercial Newspaper Association and the Public Notice Resource Center. He is married with two college age daughters.

Ron Lozano

Consultant | Member at Large

Ronald Lozano is a former AT&T employee and worked as Outside Plant Engineer for eighteen years in the Construction & Engineering Department. His expertise is in major projects-utility relocations for such clients as the Metropolitan Transit Authority (Metro), Caltrans, and the City of Los Angeles. Metro projects included Gold line Eastside Extension, Expo Phase 1, Expo Phase 2 and 405 Frwy Expansion for Metro/Caltrans. He brings his vast utility project experience and history of fiber optic placement established for AT&T's downtown service areas to the committee's review of construction activities and mitigation practices.

He is a native Angelino who grew up in nearby Lincoln Heights. Mr. Lozano's interest in public service took hold as a young boy when his mother would take him to view the vast landscape of Los Angeles from the observation floor of City Hall. He is a graduate of CSULA with a degree in Business and Economics, and is currently pursuing a credential in Project Management. In 2018, he was elected to serve on the Board of Directors of the Los Angeles Boys and Girls Club.

With a background in engineering and construction, his interest in transit is to promote access to those who depend on public transit for their livelihood and travel needs. He carries his responsibilities for public safety forward to his views on transit as well as on behalf of the Flower St/Financial District neighborhood.

Joel Wynton

Hilco Real Estate | Member at Large

Joel Wynton is a downtown Los Angeles stakeholder and resident of Bunker Hill Towers where he has lived for many years with his family.

He was born and raised in Los Angeles and, after graduating from Loyola High School, he matriculated to the University of California at Santa Barbara where he earned his Bachelor of Arts in Business Economics and Spanish. He went on to earn his Master of Real Estate Development from the University of Southern California and now works as a commercial real estate finance and development professional having twenty years of progressive experience. He also enjoys serving as an active volunteer with the Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority and the Union Station Homeless Shelter in Pasadena.

His desire to serve the Community Leadership Council comes from his family's generational history with LA transportation including the engineering project management behind LA Metro's Red Line development and the ridership of LA's Red Cars during the transportation heyday of old. He appreciates the opportunity of contributing to today's progress of the Los Angeles Metropolitan Transportation Authority transit system.
